“We are very excited and honored to have Alpha Rev and the other Austin musicians to participate in this benefit concert for us,” said Lynn Lasky Clark, LMSW, president and CEO of Mental Health America of Texas.

Mental illness affects millions of Texans every year and each year thousands of lives are lost to suicide across the state. Last year Texas saw an increase in the number of suicides.

“After losing my father and brother to suicide, one of my biggest passions has become working to fight mental illness,” said Casey McPherson, lead singer of Alpha Rev. “I think it is important that young people recognize the need to promote mental health and I invite everyone to join us Friday, December 18 for the Rock Solid Holiday Benefit Concert.”
